

Civil Society Condemns Massacre of Indigenous People in Peru

Calls on Peru and International Community to Respect Human Rights

6 June 2009

We, the undersigned organizations, condemn the violence against peaceful indigenous protesters and police in Peru that has already resulted in at least 30 deaths.

We call on both the Government of Peru and the Interethnic Association for the Development of the Peruvian Amazon (AIDSEP) to engage in a good faith dialogue to prevent further escalation. We urge the international community to send a clear message to Peru that military repression is not an acceptable form of conflict resolution.

The current violent human rights crisis is a vivid illustration of the consequences of a systematic failure in the basic governance processes related to consultation, land tenure and access to resources.

The indigenous mobilization that ended in violence on Friday began in April as a reaction to a series of laws promulgated by President Alan Garcia's government over the past year. The laws contain provisions that indigenous organizations believe threaten their fundamental rights to access and decision-making over their forests, resources and territories. They were written and passed into law without any formal or informal consultation with indigenous peoples, in violation of Peru's obligations under ILO 169.

This is the second time in less than a year that Peru's indigenous peoples in the Amazon have resorted to organizing massive and prolonged blockades of roads, rivers and extractive industry infrastructure, as their increasingly frequent calls for consultation and dialogue have gone unheard in Lima.

The tragic unfolding incident illustrates how ignoring peoples' rights and meaningful participation in processes that affect their lands and livelihoods can lead to serious social conflict and failed policies. As the world's climate negotiators gather in Bonn, we must heed these lessons and guarantee that indigenous peoples' rights are considered an integral part of any final agreement to save forests and the climate.

Amazon Alliance, US
Amazon Watch, US
Asian Indigenous Women's Network
Boreal Forest Network, Canada
The Boreal Action Project, Canada
COICA (Coordinator of Indigenous Organizations of the 9 countries of the Amazon Basin)
Bank Information Center, US
Consumers Association of Penang, Malaysia
Ecologistas en Acción, Spain
Ecological Society of the Philippines
Environmental Investigation Agency, US
FERN
Forest Peoples Programme, UK
Friends of the Earth International
Fundación del Rio, Nicaragua
Global Exchange, US
Global Social Justice, Belgium

Global Witness, UK
Greenpeace International
Humane Society International, Australia
Indigenous Environmental Network (IEN)
International Accountability Project, US
International Indian Treaty Council
International Organization of Indigenous Resource Development
International Youth Caucus, Bonn
Nepenthes, Denmark
North East Peoples Alliance on Trade, Finance and Development, India
Pro REGENWALD, Germany
Quinault Indian Nation, US
Rainforest Action Network, US
Rainforest Foundation UK
Salva le Foreste, Italy
Sierra Club, US
Sustainability Watch Network, Central America

Tebtebba (Indigenous Peoples' International Centre for Policy Research and Education)
Terra!, Italy
Thai Working Group for Climate Justice
Third World Network
Union of British Columbia Indian Chiefs
Union pour l'Émancipation des Femmes Autochtones, DR Congo
United Confederation of Taino People
Wetlands International, Netherlands
World Rainforest Movement, Uruguay
The Wilderness Society, Australia
Winnipeg Indigenous Peoples Solidarity Movement, Canada